In the Osing society that in the division of the inheritance there are heirs who do not get the inheritance of the husband's estate and the tradition is still preserved in the surrounding community.

This research uses qualitative research methods using a normative approach.

The implementation of the Division of Islamic inheritance in the customary osing is in accordance with Islamic teachings and positive law. However, in the distribution of the estate there are heirs who have not received the birthright from the husband's property because there are some things such as loss of bonds in the family and the absence of generations of successors in the family. Secondly, in the disconnection or reconciliation between the osing community is still implementing the peace system between the family so that there is a dispute between the heirs that can pose a major conflict in the family.
