

CHAPTER V

CONCLUSION

From the finding of this research, the researcher concludes that IP students are at a high level of motivation towards learning English as a foreign language by following the statement “I wish I were fluent in English” ( $M= 5,78$ ;  $SD= 0,579$ ) of domain desire to learn English. The IP students are at a high level of attitudes towards learning English as a foreign language by following the statement “Learning English is really great” ( $M= 5,76$ ;  $SD= 0,474$ ) of domain Attitudes towards learning English. Also, the IP students are both integratively and instrumentally motivated in learning English.

As implication of this study, the respondents can more explore their needs by knowing their level of motivation in learning English. This research is limited to only conducted on three majors of International Program students. The suggestion for the next research, it is possibly to conducted on all the major of International Program in this Private University in Indonesia

